Jordan Glassman
Philosophy Department 2020 Collins Award Winner

Hailing from Palm Desert, California, Jordan Glassman will graduate with a double major in philosophy and political economy. After his freshman year at SLU and a sophomore year at Georgetown, Jordan remembered a "sense of selflessness in the air at SLU" and returned to finish his college career with us. We are glad that he did, because he has been a blessing to our community in many ways! For two years, Jordan has been the SGA Vice President for Academic Affairs. As part of that role he served on the University Undergraduate Core Committee, Undergraduate Academic Affairs Committee and Academic Portfolio Review Committee as the lone undergraduate representative. He has also served as an Oriflamme Coordinator, U101 Peer Instructor/Honors Teaching Assistant, Opus Prize Ambassador, Men's Club Basketball Head Coach and as a member of the Mission Priority Examen Steering Committee. He has also been heavily involved in the Edmund Campion Society and Beta Theta Pi. Jordan will spend the next year in a service program before pursuing graduate school/law school.
