

World Cup 2018: Russia on the World Stage

Wednesday, April 11

5:10 – 6:30 PM

Busch Student Center 253C

This roundtable panel will discuss the upcoming FIFA World Cup competition in Russia as a cultural event with significant international implications. We will consider the practical details of the World Cup, the cities and regions where the games will take place, as well as the social and political questions surrounding the tournament.

Sponsored by: Department of Languages, Literatures, and Cultures - The Russian Program, Russian and Eastern European Area Studies Program (REEAS)