Course Description

The International Studies Internship is designed to help students learn by experience, make connections between their classroom learning and the workplace, and prepare for their careers. Academic credit is awarded in proportion to the number of hours a student-intern completes. A student must work 180 hours to earn 3 credits. A typical schedule for the fall and spring semesters is 12-15 hours per week. A student can earn credit for two 3-credit internships; however, the content of each must be different.

Course Registration

Students must submit all required documents as outlined on the Career Services webpage to the Internship Coordinator Patrice Burns (patrice.burns@slu.edu). Students must then obtain an internship and obtain permission from the International Studies Coordinator Neville Li (neville.li@slu.edu) to take the course. Upon completion of all of these steps, students will be enrolled in the course.

The full University-level Academic Integrity Policy can be found on the Provost's Office website. Additionally, SLU-Madrid has posted its academic integrity policy online. As a member of the University community, you

1. Student Personal Development Goals

During their initial phase on the job, students must submit their learning objectives to the Faculty advisor, addressing their goals for the following areas, on Canvas.

- a. Professional: How do you expect this internship to help you pursue your career goals?
- b. Civic: What knowledge or skills (e.g. public speaking, writing, financial literacy, cultural competency, leadership) do you hope to obtain through this internship?
- c. Scholarly: How do you expect your internship to relate to what you have learned as a student of international studies?
- d. Personal: Do you expect the internship to give you a greater sense of personal civic responsibility?

2. Key Questions in Reflection in Action

Choose 4 questions relating to this internship and answer in detail.

- Some people consider themselves to be “big picture people” and others are “detail oriented”. Which are you? Give an example of a time when you displayed this.
- There is more than one way to solve a problem. Give an example from your recent work experience that would illustrate this.

- Give two examples of things you've done in your job that demonstrate your willingness to work hard.
- Tell us about a time when a supervisor criticized your work. Give a specific example.
- Describe the project or situation which best demonstrates your analytical abilities. What was your role?
- Describe a situation where you felt you had not communicated well. How did you correct the situation?
- Describe a time when you were able to effectively communicate a difficult or unpleasant idea to a superior.
- Describe the most significant written document, report or presentation which you had to complete.
- Tell us about a recent successful experience in making a presentation. How did you prepare? What obstacles did you face? How did you handle them?
- Describe a time when you made a suggestion to improve the work in your organization.

- Describe a time when you came up with a creative solution/idea/project/report to a problem in your past work.
- Tell us about some demanding situations in which you managed to remain calm and composed.
- How do you typically deal with conflict? Can you give me an example?
- Tell us about a time when you organized or planned an event that was very successful.

3. Meeting with Faculty Advisor

When you are at least halfway done with your internship, you must schedule a meeting with your Faculty Advisor to discuss your development in the internship. Consider what you have learned throughout your studies, how that compares to what you have experienced on the job, and how you have implemented the theories and concepts you learned in class.

4. Internship Reflection and Portfolio

At the end of the semester, students will submit a paper that

- I). focuses on the international and social role of the organization and their own experiences and analysis. The reflection should respond to the following considerations, among others:
  - A. Analyze the effectiveness of the institution from both the organization's point of view and based on your own findings.
  - B. Who is the organization trying to serve and how? What are the organization's standards for effectiveness? Does it live up to those standards?

C. Create your own criteria to assess the organization's effectiveness. Following these criteria, in what specific ways are they successful? What obstacles do they face? Consider individual people, public opinion, local and global institutions, resources and government support.

II). evaluates the impact of both the service provided by the organization and your own active participation in this field.

A. Analyze how the organization fits into society. Does it seem to encourage the development of values that align with its purpose? Why or why not? How did your work encourage the development of its values, principles or goals? Explain what you and the organization could do to make a bigger impact.

B. Assess your work and development through the internship,

a. Did you meet your own learning objectives by working for the organization? Why or why not? How did you apply the concepts learned in class to your work? What theories did you see in practice in the workplace? How will you apply these lessons learned as you develop in your career?

b. Work Sample. Students must submit a sample of their work. This will vary from student to student, depending on the nature of the internship. It can be a spreadsheet, a website, a press release, a report, etc., but prior approval of the artifact by the Internship Coordinator is required. Include an explanation of the sample – explain why you created it and the process you followed.
