Time	Session	Location
8:30–9 AM	Registration and Breakfast	Pere Marquette Gallery
9–9:20 AM	Welcome and Distance Education: Current Trends, Future Opportunities Tracy A. Chapman, Ph.D., Dean and Associate Provost, Saint Louis University Troy Hargrove, MBA, Associate Dean, Saint Louis University Over the last decade, the number of courses and programs offered at a distance has grown dramatically. Institutions of higher education have an obligation to use current trends and lessons learned to increase access to higher education.	Pere Marquette Gallery
9:20–9:30 AM	Walk to Richard A. Chaifetz School of Business

9:30–10:20 AM — BREAKOUT SESSION 1 — CONNECT

	Session	Location
	Keeping Pace with Change Ashely Eckhardt, Academic Coach II, Saint Louis University Andrea Kolisch, M.A., Academic Coach II, Saint Louis University Change is a constant. It is about the only thing we can be sure will happen, so we all experience it. Splitting into small groups, we will discuss how we deal with the complex, intertwining layers of change as humans, co-workers, supervisors, teams, and institutions, and come away with ideas for coping with future changes.	Davis-Shaughnessy Hall 260
	Speed Networking Chelsea Caile McNeely, MPA, Director, Southeast Missouri State University Ready to get up close and personal with your colleagues? A favorite from 2018, the speed networking session is back! Come to this session to quickly get to know some of the other summit attendees.	Davis-Shaughnessy Hall 274
	Special Topics: Transcripts, Partnerships and Summer Relationships Eric Miller, M.A., Academic Coach, Sr., Saint Louis University Justin Smith, MSHE, Corporate Partnerships Coordinator, Saint Louis University Jacob Wierson, Summer-Winter Program Coordinator, Saint Louis University Transcripts: we all need them, but sometimes it's a struggle to obtain them. Partnerships: building relationships, recruitment and retention. Summer: increasing revenue through summer opportunities.	Davis-Shaughnessy Hall 271
10:20–10:30 AM	Break

10:30–11:20 AM — BREAKOUT SESSION 2 — SHARE

	Session	Location
	Building a Community in Online Learning Alma Torres Rojo, M.A., Adjunct Faculty, Saint Louis University Reflecting on current practices to engage adult learners in distance education while promoting a sense of community.	Davis-Shaughnessy Hall 273
	Tips and Teaching Ideas for Online Learning Chris Tobnick, MSCE, Instructional Developer, Saint Louis University Learn the latest technologies used at Saint Louis University's School for Professional Studies, and how faculty have embraced them through an online faculty foundation course.	Cook Hall 240
	Regulation and Policy Compliance Chelsea Caile McNeely, MPA, Director, Southeast Missouri State University Distance and online education continue to be under regulatory scrutiny at the international, federal, state and local levels of government. In this session, we'll discuss popular regulatory topics in distance education including regular and substantive interaction, GDPR, state authorization, current federal regulations undergoing negotiated rulemaking, and student identification regulations. Come to this session to share with others how your institution is tackling compliance and to ask questions of your colleagues.	Davis-Shaughnessy Hall 274

11:20–11:30 AM	Break

11:30 AM–12:20 PM — BREAKOUT SESSION 3 — DO

	Session	Location
	A 24/7 World Does Not Mean "Being On" 24/7: Learning to Create a Better Work-Life Interface Matt Grawitch, Ph.D., Director, Saint Louis University Due to the virtual nature of modern education and work-related interaction, students, faculty, and colleagues often keep varying schedules (due to non-school demands, geographic location, etc.), which can create the perceived demand for 24/7 availability. This session will focus on providing a deeper understanding of the limits of this perceived requirement and offer suggestions for ways to better manage one's personal resources of time and energy across sometimes competing demands.	Cook Hall 236
	Breaking Out of the Classroom: Online and On-ground Breakout Rooms Robin E. Grebing, Ed.D., Assistant Professor, Maryville University Have you ever done a breakout room? If yes, then you know solving the puzzles to escape the room requires team work and problem-solving. In this session, we will use examples of on-ground and online breakout rooms and share resources for creating these engaging activities.	Cook Hall 234
	Tools for Planning and Implementing Policy Change Dennis W. Kinkead, Jr., M.S., Online Instructional Coordinator, Southeast Missouri State University Trying to plan for and initiate policy change in any organization can be a challenging process. This session will be a hands on experience giving participants the tools and resources they need to go back to their universities to initiate their own policy changes. Session topics will range from looking at different ways to complete needs assessments, discussing how to create a logic model, and how to pick a program planning model. Participants will take part in guided discussion activities like think-pair-share and get to practice the techniques described during the session.	Davis-Shaughnessy Hall 274
