

SLU RESEARCH

Igniting Discovery, Transforming Lives

Limited Submission Funding Opportunity

Mallinckrodt Scholar Award Program

Number of university slots: 2

Internal Deadline: November 17, 2023

Proposal Deadline: January 15, 2024

The Mallinckrodt Scholar Award Program, through the Edward Mallinckrodt Jr. Foundation, is a competitive funding opportunity designed to provide faculty members who hold M.D. and/or Ph.D. degrees, and are in their fifth to eighth year of a tenure-track position, with support to move the project forward to the point where other independent funding can be obtained. The award provides funding for up to 4 years at $125,000 per year, commencing October 1, 2024. Applicants may have current R01 funding from the National Institutes of Health.

Guidance for the Nomination Process

Saint Louis University is one of 31 institutions invited to nominate two candidates. Competition is by invitation only. An internal competition will be held to assign the two slots. Interested investigators should submit a 1-2 page summary of their proposed project and Biosketch in NIH format by 5 p.m. November 17, 2023. Please submit documents through SLU's OpenWater portal at the following link: <https://slu.secure-platform.com/a/solicitations/147/home>

A SLU faculty selection committee will review and select the most suitable investigators and investigators will be notified of their results by December 1, 2023 barring any unforeseen circumstances. If selected, the full proposal deadline is January 15, 2024.

A description of the Mallinckrodt Scholar Award Program and proposal guidelines can be found here. A 1-2 page lay summary will be required in the final proposal and will be of particular importance to the non-scientific trustees of the Foundation.

For more information or questions on the Foundation, please contact Sarah Jones at sarah.elizabeth.jones@slu.edu.